1. JUST ANOTHER FUN-FILLED, INFO-PACKED SHOW

:31

Hi, I'm Shadoe Stevens. It was just another fun-filled, information packed show last week on American Top 40. We found out the Red Hot Chilli Peppers recorded in a haunted mansion. In AT40 Music News, Michael Jackson was making 20 million dollars for cable concert. We had the story of the audition at 12 years old that launched the career of Celine Dion. George Michael talked about his famous face, Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis told us how they make "Mo Money", and another songwriting team ruled the top two spots on the Billboard chart, L.A. Reid, Babyface, and Darryl Simmons wrote TLC's recent #1 now at #2, and Boyz II Men's #1 song on top for a second week "End Of The Road". Woah! You won't want to miss this week's countdown. Join me right here won't ya, on American Top 40! (LOCAL TAG)

2. RADIO ACTIVE SONGS ON THE MOVE

Hey, Shadoe Stevens, inviting you to this week's pop party on American Top 40. Last week these songs were radio-active and on the move up the Billboard chart. Color Me Badd climbed 7 to 29 with their song from 'Mo Money', "Forever Love". Also up a lucky seven, to 25, the duet by Patty Smyth and Don Henley, "Sometimes Love Just Ain't Enough". Shakespear's Sister, verily forsooth scaled five to 18 with "Stay". And another five-spot climber, to 15 was K.W.S. from England with "Please Don't Go". But the biggest mover of all belonged to Hi-Five out of Waco, Texas. They made a leap of 11 from 22 to #11 with "She's Playing Hard To Get". Surely top ten bound this week. D'Shadoe knows. Join me right here, for the only official Billboard countdown, American Top 40! (LOCAL TAG)

1. If women named some of the hunkiest, beefiest, cheese-cake-iest guys in music, who do you think would be on the list?... When George Michael started out, he never saw himself as hunky or studly or...anything else! Listen to this:

GEORGE MICHAEL ACTUALITY: (:54) "I had no idea that I was going to be any kind of physical entity. I was a particularly unattractive adolescent and I think then things changed and I started to feel some of that, I got completely carried away, because afterall, I was nineteen, twenty years old. Suddenly, I was considered attractive! And I was still very insecure. I spent years working through those insecurities, I think. And really, it was a distraction to me. I had to work out that the most important thing in the world was not to have people think you were gorgeous, you know, and I eventually came to that decision, me moving away from kind of selling myself as a physical persona, and just getting on with what I'm best at, which is writing songs

2. Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis have been a hit factory now for about a decade -- And they're really funny guys to talk to. Jimmy's always smiling, he's big and boisterous. And Terry's kinda of a sly guy - walkin' around after each hit saying 'Mo Money for you -- 'Mo' money for me...' So when we talked to them about their very successful collaboration, the first thing we asked Terry is -- ARE YOU the financial wizard of the team?

JIMMY JAM & TERRY LEWIS ACTUALITY: (:37)

TERRY:"I appreciate doing business, I just happen to like it.

JIMMY: And happen to be very good at it! Terry's definitely the visionary. He's definitely the one that plots the future of Flytetime or Perspective, or whatever it's gonna be. I feel like a good leader is a someone who's also knows when to be a follower. And I think we both are good leaders in a sense and we both know when to step back and let somebody else lead. If one of us is having a bad day or whatever, you know, you always have someone there to depend on and to bounce ideas off of, or whatever, and that's important.

TERRY: Amen!

German concept," he declines to be specific about whether Bertelsmann will be one of them. "I don't work for Bertelsmann. I work for BMG," he states.

However, Stein, who chairs German record company association BPW, adds, "We do need a new music outlet." He has reservations, though, about the potential additional costs of making videos specifically for DMK.

Warner Music managing director Gerd Gebhardt takes the same view on video costs but adds, "It's a positive development for the industry. It's very difficult to get German-speaking talent on MTV."

EMI Music regional managing director Helmut Fest says, "MTV has become so expensive that I can't afford to advertise a local act on it."

He adds, "German radio is not playing enough local product. This could change that. MTV had an impact on radio in the States. The same could happen here."

added more in-house staffers.

LaFace recently moved to larger offices in Atlanta and expanded its staff. A new publicity director, Leslie Pitts, has been hired; Boles says the label is also beefing up its A&R staff and adding in-house promotion and marketing personnel.

Upcoming from LaFace are the next singles from the "Boomerang" project: "Die Without You" by P.M. Dawn, which goes to radio this week, Shanie's "Don't Want To Love You," and Braxton's "Love Shoulda Brought U Home." Also on the LaFace label is hip-hop outfit Highland Plate Mobsters, whose first single, "Let's Get Naked," is climbing the Hot R&B Singles chart.

"We're trying to keep it small and concentrate on one major project at a time," says Reid, adding that 1993 will see the album debut by Braxton and by LaFace's first rap act, P.A. (Parental Advisory). Other projects for 1993 include sophomore albums by Damian Dame and TLC. And as producers, L.A. & Babyface will likely receive more acclaim when the press-shy Babyface releases his next solo vocal album on Solar/Epic.

The future will definitely include more soundtrack projects for LaFace, says Reid, though no projects have yet been confirmed. Reid expresses a desire to establish a film and television production arm and turn LaFace into a major entertainment entity by the mid-'90s.

Some of the rappers featured on the album will join the band on the road. The tour is being handled by Famous Artists' Jerry Ade.

"It's the perfect time for War," says Goldstein. "It is more than a release of the catalog, it's a campaign to bring War back to the top."
