1. Here's one to think about: You're a musician, an instrumentalist. Get to make your own albums, not just backing up singers on their records. So why have singers on your album when they might steal away the spotlight? Sax-man Kenny G. explained:

KENNY G ACTUALITY: (:46) "I feel that the vocal songs should compliment the instrumentals. It shouldn't be the other way around. It shouldn't be the vocal songs are the hits, going for top 40 radio because we've proven now that instrumentals can make it there and they can do well and people respond to them, so that's a great thing. But the vocal songs have to fit in and they have to sound like they're part of a big package and I like the variety of having a vocal song on my record so that people can take a little bit of a break from hearing my horn constantly. And when it comes back in on the next song, it's fresh. If it fits in, it's good, if it sticks out like a sore thumb, if it looks like there's a guy that's going for a hit single, that's not happening, and I don't do that."

2. This next song is the first big 40 hit for the hot new group SILK. We asked them how they got their start and it turns out they owe a lot to Big Macs, McNuggets and Happy Meals:

SILK ACTUALITY: (:42) "The group started at McDonald's downtown Atlanta four years ago. Me, I'm Jimmy and Jonathan, we were working together. He was cooking and I was cleaning... we were doing whatever we do. We were working at McDonald's and he'd walk around singing, I'd walk around singing. It gets lonely, it gets boring and so you just had to pass time and I passed time singing, make the night go by faster. So, hey, you want to try and get a group together? Let's start something here. Like you know, we'll just try it. And we did and we wanted to pick up Tim so we, so.. big G, little G and here we are, four years later."

3. A recent Top 5 hit is "DON'T WALK AWAY" by Jade. The girls' families are thrilled about their success. And TONYA told us about one of their biggest fans -- a little old lady she loves very much:

TONYA/JADE ACTUALITY: (:47) "My grandmother now listens to pop and urban radio. She's almost eighty and she only used to listen to easy listening and gospel. Now she listens to pop and r'n'b so she can hear the record. Every other time she hears it she calls and goes 'I just love that song. It's beautiful music, and Tonya just has such a cute little voice!' And she tells me that every time... like eighty million times now, like she never told me before! Oh really, you like it grandma? It's like... again? Yes, I hear it at five in the morning, and around eleven at night! I say grandma, you're listening to urban radio now?"

4. "COME UNDONE" by Duran Duran is from their latest album just called 'Duran Duran.' Though a lot of fans are calling it 'The Wedding Album.' Seen the album cover? Old photos of brides and grooms. What's the story behind those wedding couples? John Taylor revealed the mystery:

JOHN TAYLOR ACTUALITY: (1:10) "We had a song on the album, it was "SHOTGUN". It was called "SHOTGUN" wedding at one point and when we were putting the artwork together for the album, we had a piece of design that related to each song on the album, so when you flick through, you'll see the booklet as you're listening to the album... you see an accompanying visual. "SHOTGUN WEDDING" we got our parents wedding photographs, and we put them together to make this... it was Nick's idea. He'd seen his parents wedding photograph and said "My god, what is this..." It was very kitch, in a way but also very beautiful, and so we mocked them up and said that is the album cover! I mean, during the making of the album, we had a marriage, we had a divorce. I got married, Nick got divorced, while the album was being made, I mean, marriage is one of those things...it's omnipresent. And we also liked the idea that everything on the album, all the music came out of the union, instead of representation on the front. And there is so much to say in a way, and we really like to play up our middle class roots."
