

SOUNDTRACK OF THE 60s

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

SHOW 833-6

AIRDATE: AUGUST 6 & 7, 1983

JOE ESPOSITO, the former bodyguard for ELVIS PRESLEY, recalls how he first met Presley in the Army and reflects on the man who was idolized by so many.

We'll take a special look at the career of singer SAM COOKE. He began his singing career in his father's Chicago church. While in high school, he formed a gospel quartet called THE HIGHWAY QC'S that included LOU RAWLS. He left that band to join another gospel group, THE SOUL STIRRERS. He then became interested in performing pop material. In 1957, Cooke scored his first number one record with "You Send Me." Other Cooke hits include "Chain Gang," "Bring It On Home To Me," and "Shake."

Plus, we'll talk with CLEVELAND AMORY, the famed television critic for TV Guide, who was quite popular in the 1960s for his very opinionated views on television programming.

In addition, we'll play some of the most memorable music from the decade that still lives, on SOUNDTRACK OF THE 60s.
