PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Show K841-7

Airdate: February 18/19, 1984

SOUNDTRACK OF THE 60's is doing another piece of time traveling through the best music ever with your host Gary Owens. The sixties were a time of beginnings. Remember the Fillmores? East and West? Then you remember Bill Graham.

We'll celebrate the birthdays of Smokey Robinson, Yoko Ono and Johnny Winter. We'll also take you on a visit to England to the Victoria and Albert Museum. That's home to a display of the outrageous and outlandish stage costumes of British Rock and Roll stars. Quiet simple little garments. You know the conservative things Elton John wears when he's dancing on his piano in front of several thousand of his closest friends.

It's been almost seven years since he left us. But the King is still releasing records. One of the latest collections includes Elvis accompanying himself on guitar. "Elvis-A Legendary Performer" is volume four in this series. And as for something this week from the King himself he be asking "Are You Lonesome Tonight?"

One lonesome guy might be Terry Williams. Who? Bet you'd know the group he used to perform with and help create. The First Edition sound familiar? How about lead singer Kenny Rogers? Gary finds out how it all started and stopped. And you'll hear "Ruby Don't Take Your Love To Town."

Quick where was the first international pop festival held? If you said Monterey you were wrong. How about a headliner on that same show? Janis? Jimi? No, no, no. Bobby Rydell? Absolutely find out more this week on SOUNDTRACK.

The movie memory is a little something from Alfred Hitchcock guaranteed to make you feel a little foul. Sorry but "The Birds" does that to you. This horrific film from the master stars Rod Taylor, Tippi Hendren, and Susanne Pleshette as the school teacher who doesn't get around much any more. In their honor the Byrds will do "Turn Turn Turn." Top tunes this week #3 "Ruby Tuesday" Rolling Stones, #2 "I'm A Believer" the Monkees and #1 "Kind Of A Drag" the Buckingham.
