

WITH GARY OWENS

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Show K841-8

Airdate: February 25/26, 1984

This time around on SOUNDTRACK OF THE 60's host Gary Owens travels to Memphis to talk to Booker T, to New York for a look at a former rock 'n roll factory, and he'll check in on Mick Jagger who by the way will be celebrating the 20th anniversary of the first Stones album release.

With "The Man From U.N.C.L.E.," James Bond, "The Wild Wild West" and countless other spies and superspies, the record industry caught up with Johnny Rivers. Rivers recorded the theme song for the most intellectual spy John Drake; the program and song were of course "Secret Agent."

Though the late Dennis Wilson sang on only one Beach Boys chart hit, "Do You Wanna Dance," it was his idea to start the group in the first place. He was also the only person in the group that could really surf.

Though we can't divulge where Gary caught up with the man himself but Mick Jagger talks to us about what it was like for him back in the beginning. Mick tries not to look back he just keeps on going forward.

Next time you're in New York and want to see a music factory go to the Brill Building. It was there in the late fifties and early sixties that artists like Neil Diamond, Carole King, and Neil Sedaka got their starts as song writers. Cranking them out like clockwork they created hits like "Loco Motion" for Little Eva and "Kicks" for Paul Revere and the Radiers.

Our movie memory is "Cool Hand Luke." A man who had a bit of difficulty communicating with his superiors. This 1967 film featured Paul Newman in the title role with George Kennedy as a fellow inmate and Strother Martin in his most memorable role as the warden.

For the fourth week of February 1968 the number three record was "Spooky" by the Classics IV, followed by "The Theme From Valley of the Dolls" by Dionne Warwick and number two. The top record for this week was "Love is Blue" by Paul Mauriat.
